University Application Support for Schools and Colleges

Uni Direct is an educational consultancy who work in partnership with schools and colleges to support their students to choose the right degree course and submit a successful university application.

Service Overview for Schools and Colleges

Our experience of working in academic environments at further and higher education establishments, gives us with a unique perspective to work with your students. We can work with you to provide careers guidance and university application support to students who want to apply to university in the UK or for English speaking courses elsewhere. We run workshops tailored to the specific requirements of schools around the world, to help support students make the right decisions on their university application journey.

We run two main programmes at schools and colleges that are aimed at students aged 16 years and above:

Choosing and Applying to University

This programme is delivered to students either one or two years before they apply to university. We provide students with the information to help them select the best degree course and to produce a successful application.

We start a typical programme by running a series of workshops and holding one-to-one sessions to help students select the right degree course. The workshops are run to help students find the best locations and courses to study. We can review options for students in their home country, as well as at overseas universities.

In the second half of the programme we focus on how to produce a winning university application. We support the student to produce a compelling personal statement and provide the advice and skills needed to submit a successful application.

We find students benefit from discussing their ideas and aspirations with our experts, as well as in groups with their peers. We tailor our approach to meet the specific needs of the school or college.

We would be very happy to discuss the right approach for your school or college, so please contact us to discuss your specific requirements.

Moving to University

This programme is usually delivered to students in their final year at school. This course provides the ideal introduction to university life. Using group learning and one-to-one mentoring sessions, this programme is delivered in two sections:

The first part of the course is focused on helping students develop study skills to succeed academically at university, including: essay and report writing skills, public speaking, exam revision techniques, comprehending individual learning styles and using a university library.

The second part of the course provides practical tips on student life to ensure each of the participants begin their university journey feeling confident, prepared and excited about their future.

In addition to these two main programmes, we can offer more tailored support to suit the needs of your school or college including:

- ◆ Careers advice and mentoring workshops for students aged 15 years upwards. This includes one-to-one careers counselling sessions
- ◆ Specialist degree advice in subject areas such as business, medicine and art and design
- ◆ Support to develop the internal capacity of schools to advise students on their university journey
